Course Overview:

This is an immersive course designed for actors, performers, directors, designers, and writers who seek to push the boundaries of theater and embrace the bold world of post-internet aesthetics, where theatre and performance meet cutting-edge digital and networked methods. You'll investigate innovative approaches to contemporary theater, exploring new ways of storytelling that embrace technology's boundless possibilities. Through engaging exercises, thought-provoking readings, and inspiring discussions, you'll explore the fusion of theater with immersive multimedia elements, AI, video mapping, motion capture, 3D scanning/rendering, game engine, and networked liveness.

The course is divided into sections that each unveil a unique aspect of post-internet performance. From mastering performance, directing, and designing with cameras to working with networked storytelling and AI, you'll gain the vocabulary and skills needed to thrive in this digital era.

Through flash labs and composition days, you'll collaborate with peers to create original projects that synthesize the techniques, vocabulary, and skills introduced during the course. This dynamic workshop environment encourages you to take creative risks and unlock your limitless artistic potential. "Beyond the Proscenium" invites you to embrace the ever-evolving theatrical landscape

First Semester - Liveness and Digital

- Section 1 will be a brief introduction to the structure of the course.
- Section 2 will develop the vocabulary and skills needed to perform, direct, and design with stationary cameras.
- Section 3 will focus on working with handheld cameras
- Section 4 will introduce the student to live compositing and immersive video worlds
- Section 5 students will create a short project that synthesizes the techniques, vocabulary, and skill sets introduced during the course.
- Section 6 will be a brief introduction to the Spring semester and the concepts of IRL/Digital/Post-Internet
- Section 7 will be an exploration of working on post-internet time/space strategies
- Section 8 will be an exploration of working on post-internet time/space strategies

COURSE OBJECTIVES:

This class is an opportunity to explore avenues outside of traditional production modes and beyond each student’s individual discipline. We will focus on the process of creating an ensemble-driven theatrical language that integrates disciplines and current technologies.

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

- Generously and actively participate in an ensemble and devised creations.
- Confidently participate in productions with intentionality that use cross-disciplinary approaches.
- Develop productive collaborative relationships.
- Gain confidence in their ability to articulate and support their artistic choices.
- Learn from key critical texts about multimedia theater.
- Broaden their creative skillset.
- Develop an understanding of the current theory and practice around Post-Internet and New Aesthetic.
- Gain a working knowledge of artists working in Post-Internet structures.
- Developed a toolkit for creating new work using Post-Internet aesthetics and multimedia strategies..

Please note that the evaluation criteria are subject to adjustment based on the instructor's syllabus and specific course requirements.

Areas	Excellent	Good	Sufficient	Fail
-------	-----------	------	------------	------

Attendance	Demonstrates consistent attendance and active participation in all class sessions and rehearsals.	Attends most class sessions and rehearsals with active engagement in discussions and collaborative activities.	Regularly attends class sessions, but may have occasional absences with satisfactory participation when present.	Exhibits excessive absences without valid reasons, significantly impacting learning and group dynamics.
Collaboration	Actively collaborates with peers, contributing valuable ideas and fostering a positive and creative environment.	Collaborates effectively with peers, contributing to group dynamics and showing openness to new perspectives.	Participates in group work but may occasionally struggle with fully engaging in collaborative efforts and dynamics.	Demonstrates poor collaboration skills, hindering progress and negatively affecting group cohesion and creativity.
Reading	Demonstrates a deep understanding of assigned readings, incorporating insights into class discussions and work.	Shows comprehension of assigned readings, actively participating in discussions and relating concepts to performances.	Engages with assigned readings and participates in discussions, but may occasionally lack thorough analysis or insights.	Fails to complete assigned readings and lacks meaningful contributions to class discussions and assignments.
Discussion	Actively engages in thought-provoking discussions, offering insightful contributions and facilitating dialogue.	Contributes to class discussions with relevant points and engages with peers' ideas to promote meaningful conversations.	Participates in class discussions, but may occasionally need encouragement to share thoughts and ideas with the group.	Rarely participates in class discussions, making minimal contributions and hindering the overall exchange of ideas.

Research	Conducts thorough research on topics related to post-internet aesthetics, effectively integrating findings into projects.	Conducts research on relevant topics, incorporating findings into assignments and demonstrating a solid understanding.	Engages in research efforts but may occasionally lack depth or full integration of findings into course assignments.	Demonstrates minimal effort in conducting research, resulting in incomplete or irrelevant information for assignments.

Grading Scale:

- Excellent: Consistently exceeds expectations, demonstrating exceptional engagement and mastery of course content in all areas.
- Good: Meets expectations, showing a strong level of competency and active involvement in course activities and discussions.
- Sufficient: Meets minimum requirements, demonstrating basic competency and participation, but may have occasional areas for improvement or growth.
- Fail: Does not meet minimum requirements, exhibiting significant deficiencies in multiple areas, hindering learning and progress.

The instructor will provide specific feedback and guidance throughout the semester to support students' progress and development in each area. Your passion for exploring post-internet aesthetics and commitment to collaborative ensemble performance will shape your journey in this course.

Requirements for students:

Community Agreement→

Contribute and Participate:

Engaged participation is essential throughout the class. Students are expected to actively engage in the learning and creation process and to demonstrate the acquisition of skills taught throughout the class. Specifically, you will learn the basics of the media taught, and demonstrate how to creatively interact with them in a theatrical setting.

All students are expected to fully participate in every aspect of this course.

- Wear comfortable shoes and clothes that allow a full range of motion. Much of the work we'll do in class will require physical movement.
- Cell phones and any electronic devices must be turned to the off position and put away at the beginning of class. Students who answer their phones or insist on text messaging during class will be asked to leave promptly and counted absent for that day. Students awaiting an emergency call should talk to the professor prior to class to discuss need and protocol.

Presentations:

Students will participate in group presentations on artists or companies working in contemporary theater practice and research topics.

Read:

The course requires all students to complete the assigned reading. Students must post two discussion questions for each reading and participate in lively and inquisitive discussions.

Course Policies

By maintaining your enrollment in this course, you agree to these terms. These guidelines help create a safe, supportive, and productive atmosphere for artistic work. Your adherence to these policies allows all the students in the class to enjoy the fullest potential of our work together.

Community Standards

As a condition of enrollment in this component, I expect you to positively contribute to the community in order to fully engage in the intellectual life of this classroom. Let's work to make this a safe space for expression and self-identification. Students are expected to treat everyone with respect, regardless of race, country of origin, disability, physical appearance, age, gender identity and expression, religion, sexual orientation, political affiliation, or marital status. Lack of respect and harassment includes offensive comments related to any protected personal characteristic, deliberate intimidation, sustained disruption of speech, inappropriate physical contact, and unwelcome sexual attention. Violations of this agreement are subject to a response from the professor and the school administration.

Care

Our art form often engages with difficult subjects, not just intellectually but emotionally. It is important to engage in rigorous discussion and even disagreement in the process of creating work. It is also imperative that you engage in discussion with care and empathy for the other collaborators. Aim to disagree without becoming disagreeable. Let us not shy away from the hard discussions. Let us work to create a safe space so that we may live our true selves and engage and confront the uncomfortable, the political and emotional issues of our times. Critically examining and assessing our most basic assumptions and values is not just one of the tasks of theater and performance but is an activity vital to living an authentic life. I urge you to listen more than you speak and show care for your fellow students. Let us work together to ensure a classroom environment that supports your taking these intellectual and emotional risks.

Attendance

You are allowed one absence for the semester. If you have professional or personal obligations (such as an interview or a family trip), plan accordingly. Advanced notification of your "free" absence is appreciated (though not required). This "free" unexcused absence may not be taken on a day when you or your classmates are presenting a performance (noted with an asterisk on the course calendar). Students are considered absent if they arrive after 1:45am. Repeated tardiness and absence will be reflected in your evaluation.

Tardiness

Class begins and ends on time. You are late if you arrive after class begins (i.e. after the published start time).

Syllabus Change Policy

This syllabus is a guide for the course and is subject to change with advance notice. If changes are made, an updated syllabus will be posted on google docs.

STUDENT RESOURCES:

Campus Safety

SLC's campus security are on-call 24/7 to handle situations that could be dangerous or harmful to any member of the campus community.
